REFRIGERATOR NOTES Promoting Children's Healthy Life Style and Well Being

- Help your children understand the health benefits of being physically active every day. During child directed play, offer options of playing tag or Frisbee, jumping rope, swimming, dancing, playing soccer or taking a walk to the park with you.
- Avoid making comments about weight (your own or your child's). Instead, use language that focuses on healthy choices and strong bodies that allow you to be active (walk, play, climb, dance, etc.).
- Limit your child's total screen time to no more than 1 hour a day. Avoid screen time for children under 2 years of age.
- Provide healthy snacks: for example fruit or vegetables to dip in yogurt or hummus. Avoid continuous snacking, and instead, offer food at predictable meal and snack times. Limit high-fat, high-sugar, or salty snacks.
- In the context of otherwise healthy eating, offer moderate amounts of "treat" foods to help children learn to regulate their intake of sweets.
- At mealtimes provide a variety of health foods; fruits and vegetables, whole grains, lean meats; avoid foods high in trans fats and/or saturated fats.
- Allow your child to serve him/herself. Do not require children to clean their plates and do allow them to have more of anything healthy that is being served. This will help them learn to pay attention to their own hunger signals.
- Do not put your child on a weight reduction diet unless your physician supervises. For most young children, the focus is maintaining current weight, while growing in height.
- Offer children water or low/non-fat milk. Limit soda and juice intake.
- Have predictable family meals together where you have time to talk and enjoy the meal together. Establish dinner as a "no screen" time.
- Involve children in food planning, shopping, and meals preparation.
- Check that your child care providers are encouraging healthy eating and limiting junk food.
- One of the most powerful ways your children learn to be healthy is by observing you. Therefore, model being physically active, buy and eat healthy foods, express your enjoyment of food and family meals, and model positive talk about your family's healthy bodies.
