0ver	view - Show Preview DVD (or part of it)
	Show Preview DVD Parent Program
	Content of BASIC Parent programs - pyramid; overview of main differences between programs (see objectives in handout)
	Research findings summary (refer to web site or to Carolyn's powerpoint on web site of program blocks, programs and research)
	Brainstorm: What is it like to be a child/preadolescent with behavior problems
	What it is like to be a parent of child with behavior problems?
	Based on above brainstorm exercise ask:
	– What are the implications from this for how parents will want to be treated by professionals?
	<ul> <li>Make a list of group process qualities from this discussion.</li> </ul>
	- Discuss collaborative process & ways to promote engagement.
	Explain to participants that they will be "parents" and trainer will be "group leader" at times to model the process of parent groups. Talk about how you will signal whether you are "in role" or "out of role".
	Ground rules (model how group leaders determine group rules). Debrief process afterwards.
	Model determining parents's goals, then explaining program by using the pyramid, and how topics address their goals.
	Review the session structure for a 2 hour session.

		Special Time Part 1 vignettes ( highly recommended)

32°		Buzz: One group buzzes activities for parents and children ages 6-8 years and another for ages 9-12.
- A		Large Group Role play: Chose two participants to play "parent" and "child". Ask the "parent" to plan a special time activity with her child. (Instruct child to have some specific ideas of what she likes and doesn't like to do.) Process this experience from point of view of child.
Ø <sub>A</sub>		Repeat experience using child-directed principles covered in discussion. (instruct "child" to be cooperative for both of these ) Afterwards process from child's point of view. Then ask the "parent" how these two ways felt different.
		Process/Buzz: Process what group leader strategies were used to make role play practices successful. This list will be added to throughout training. Keep it simple to start and gradually increase complexity.
		Small group Break out of 2-3 so that each participant has a chance to be the "parent" and the "child". Have the "child" give feedback to the "parent" before reversing roles.
		Process/Buzz : Talk about value of doing practices and beginning steps of setting up role play
	IV.	Promoting Positive Behavior Part 2: Social, Emotional, and Persistence Coaching
		Introduce topic and rationale for Persistence Coaching
		Vignette 22: Promoting Independence (mother and father "he can do it on his own)
		Vignette 23: Persistence Coaching (concentrating with fine detail)
		Brainstorm/Buzz: persistence coaching sentences (write on flip chart)

	Vignette 40: Coaching Older Children (pumpkins)
	Brainstorm/Buzz: emotion coaching sentences (write on flip chart)
	Small Group Role play Persistence, Social, & Emotion Coaching
	Break out groups into four people each. One is parent, two are children (8-12 years) and one is observer. Ask those in role as children to work on a project together and one of them may have some frustration and difficulty waiting while the other child is more patient. Parent practices persistence, social and emotional coaching while they work together. Observer role is to notice the kinds of coaching the parent provides and then to give positive feedback.
	Discuss "differential attention" (you may already have identified this "principle")
	Process/Buzz: Process role play strategies that were used to make play role plays successful and add to list if started with earlier role play.

WORKSHOP DAY 2 SCHOOL AGE BASIC (6-12 YEARS) PARENT GROUP LEADER TRAINING

(3 days/ 21 hours) 10-6-21

I.	Model	beginning	of new	session:
		2001111111

 Welcome everyone
 Set up role play with participants pretending to be parents (if they really did coached play with their children, then they can report based on that)
Ask: "How did the special time activities go?" Have at least one "parent" report a success and one parent report difficulties. Model how to respond to both.
Ask about homework reading: "Any questions or comments about what you read?" REWARD THOSE WHO DID HOMEWORK!
 Process/Buzz: Process strategies used by group leader to support home activities. If appropriate use spontaneous role play to help solve a concern raised by parent. Debrief spontaneous role plays.
Optional or could do on 3rd day: break group leaders into small groups and have them role play homework check in (one successful parent and one parent who did not have time to play).
 Ask about barriers to coaching and special time activities with children this age. Discuss ways to overcome these obstacles.
 Discuss that skills learned in previous sessions need to be continually encouraged and reinforced by group leader, i.e. special time, persistence coaching. More work on social, emotional and persistence coaching is done in School Age Program 8 regarding homework activities.

II. Promoting Positive Behavior Part 3: Effective Praise and Encouragement

Process: Training Process Methods. As you model mediating vignettes and setting up buzzes and practices, pause periodically to review some of the group leadership skills you have modeled.

- collaborative process of training based on discussion and reflection on vignettes
- aspects of role play (choosing participants, defining participant roles and scripts, pausing action for clarification and debriefing)
- use of buzzes
- reference to parent goals

____ Introduce topic and rationale for Praise & Encouragement
____ Brainstorm: "What are the advantages of praise?"

*		Brainstorm: "What keeps parents from praising?" (barriers)
Ö.		Process the value of the benefits/barriers exercises. Focus on barriers section this time if benefits discussed on day 1. Explain that this format is used to introduce most new topics. Make a list of group leader strategies used to facilitate the benefits/barriers discussions.
		Praise Vignettes (Note: break up participants into pair buddies to discuss questions they would ask when you pause vignette. If you think group is ready you could ask them to be group leaders and try leading the discussion of some of these vignettes. Break into small groups of 6-7 "parents" with selected leader and coleader to practice leading vignettes and rest of group as observers for feedback. Or, break into 4 groups and show vignettes for chosen leaders in each group to practice leading).
		Vignette 44: Encouragement (speed of pasta making)
		Vignette 45: Children Learn to Self-Praise (praising spelling)
		Buzz: "behaviors to see more of" (flip chart)
		Vignette 47: Practice looking for positive not negative (Luke)
		Vignette 50: Proximal praise (husking corn)
		Vignette 51: Praise immediately (set the table)
		Vignette 52: Encourage responsibility (big helper to baby)
*		Brainstorm/Buzz: praise statements (to promote positive sibling relationships or for responsible behaviors at home) (Use Buzz Labelled Praise handout)
		Vignette 54: Promote responsibility (good job setting the table)
		Vignette 57: Praise doing chores (vacuuming)
		Vignette 58: Praise children's ideas (Peter with 2 sons)
		Buzz/Practice: Praising Others & Self-praise. Pair up participants with buddy. Have each participant praise something about their buddy they have noticed; next ask them to share something they did they are proud of. (Use Self-Praise Buzz form or blank Piggybank handout with blank coins to get participants to record their own personal praise statements.)
- A		Debrief afterwards difficulty giving praise, receiving praise and self-praising in large group.
O <sup>P</sup>		Process this practice and rationale for strategy. See handouts.
		Option: Program 8, Part 2, Vignette 15 and Program 8, Part 4, Vignettes 32 & 33 can be shown here to show how to coach and praise homework.
	III.	Promoting Positive Behavior Part 4: Using Tangible Reward Programs to Motivate Children
		Discuss notion that stickers, prizes, points, rewards, etc. are an addition to praise, not a substitute, and that tangible reinforcers are used only for selected "difficult" behaviors; discuss the difference in use for early school age (6-8 year old) and older school age (9-12 year old) children.
		Vignette 59: Spontaneous rewards (favorite dessert for helping)
		Brainstorm/Buzz: surprise rewards- 6-8 and 9-12 year olds
		Vignette 60: Explaining incentive system or chart to children (chess game)

	Vignette 61: Point systems for compliance (Charlie and Sophie-strikes)
	Buzz: list of incentives for 8-13 year-olds
	Vignette 62: Point systems for cooperation (Derek and Nicole)
	Vignette 64: Morning routine chart (Dorian)
	Vignette 65: Allowance (Dorian)
_	Vignette 66: Special Privileges (extra computer time)
	Vignette 67: Responsibilities and privileges (Sophie and Lisa)
	Small Group Role Play: "parent" explains sticker chart to "child". Possibly do additional role plays in small groups so that each participant gets an opportunity to be both the parent and the child. Practice difference explaining to 8 year-old vs 12 year-olds.
	Large Group Role Play: "parent" responds to "child" who didn't earn a sticker. (Emphasize positive message: "I think you can earn one next time" and principle of never taking away a sticker, point, or prize already earned.)
_	Buzz: Share things parents can do for themselves to reward themselves for their parenting work. (or, things that are relaxing and enjoyable). Use Reward Yourself buzz handout.
	Show how to use the Tools Poster.

WORKSHOP DAY 3 SCHOOL AGE BASIC (6-12 YEARS) PARENT GROUP LEADER TRAINING

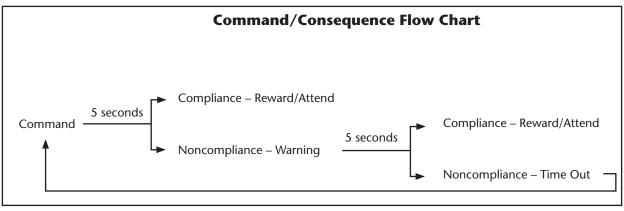

(3 days/ 21 hours) 10-6-21

	Mod	lel beginning of new session.
		Welcome everyone
		Ask about home activities and reading
		Refer back to goals set by participants on first day. Talk about key principles for discipline for this age group.
II.		ucing Inappropriate Behavior Part 4: Calm Down Procedure Time Out to Calm Down)
		Buzz: calming strategies – rewrite negative thoughts. Give out negative self-talk buzz handouts and ask buddies to rewrite them as positive, coping thoughts or to challenge them. Refer to Chapter 9 "Controlling Upsetting Thoughts" in The Incredible Years. Afterwards share the thoughts and write on flip chart.
		Practice calming self talk during an ignore. Leader says many negative statements and participants practice decreasing negative thoughts (thought interruption, reschedule, objectify, & normalize) and substituting positive statements. (dispute negative self-talk, time projection, self-praise, humor, coping self-talk)
		Teaching Parents how to use the Calm Down Area (aka Time Out) when children are aggressive. (Give Chapter 9: Time Out to Calm Down in parent book The Incredible Years, 3rd Ed., © 2019, to read the night before workshop day 3) Emphasize that this is the only time the group leader stands up and "teaches" material in this manner. Start with modeling how to teach parents to use the Calm Down Area (or Time Out to Calm Down) for hitting or destructive behavior = sending child to Calm Down Area (no warning).
		Use revised (2021) handouts of scenarios 1, 2, 3 for ages 6-8 years to discuss and model each scenario. Discuss how time out is taught respectfully and so that children can learn how to calm-down and self-regulate.
		Discuss length of time of calm down time.
		Discuss where Calm Down place will be, i.e., safe, boring place or chair, in same or close-by room to parent. Demonstrate how to brainstorm with "parents" what location they would use in their homes.
		Vignette 46: Explaining Time Out (father, Derek and Nicole)
		Vignette 52: Nicole goes to TO but Derek argues – gets 7 min
		Vignette 53: When a child refuses Time Out (Derek loses a privilege)
		Buzz: privileges that can be removed for 8-13 year-olds.

 Role play/Practice: "parent" explains calm down procedure to "child" and practices with child how to calm down in the calm down place.
 Role play/Practice: Mentor in role as group leader models how to teach children calm down strategies (going in shell, taking deep breaths, positive self-talk, use of happy place).
 Role play/Practice: simple time-out to calm down (child goes to calm down place when told by parent).
 Discuss parents' need for personal Time Outs.
 Discuss and model scenarios 2B, 2C and 2D. Use handouts.
 Role play: child refuses to go to calm down place until several minutes have been added by parent.
 Role play: child refuses to go to calm down place and parent needs to give a consequence.
 Role play: child refuses to stay in calm down place, is given one warning and is sent to calm down room if warning is disobeyed.  Some groups will need repetition of some or all of these roleplays

Time Out to Calm Down Procedure for Compliance Training (child with non-compliance rate of >65%)

"Walk-through" a simple Time Out to Calm Down for noncompliance sequence with leader as "parent" explaining each step. Note: only used for children with Oppositional Defiant Disorder or conduct problems (noncompliant 2/3 of time).
Emphasize to participants that the following brainstorm is not done in the first week that Time Out to Calm Down is presented and discussed. It is done only after all Time Out to Calm Down vignettes and practices have been completed.
Brainstorm: "We're going to look at the two discipline strategies that are most often used by parents for serious misbehavior: spanking and Time Out to Calm Down. The calm down procedure that we will use is the procedure that we have been discussing and practicing here."
Draw a four cell table on the board and fill in each cell separately in this order – "What are the pros of spanking?"

- "What are the cons of spanking?"

	– "What are the pros of Time Out to calm down?"
	– "What are the cons of Time Out to calm down?"
	Ask about the short term and long term benefits of spanking and calm down procedure for parents and children, and their relationship.
